

APIAR Publication Agreement

Publisher's note: Changes to the text of this form, without the written permission of APIAR, are prohibited, and will void this agreement.

Dear Contributor(s), We are pleased you have selected APIAR for submitting your contribution. To minimize delays in the publishing process, the author, or a designated lead author, must sign a copy of this form and submit it with the final manuscript.

Publication cannot proceed until a signed copy of this agreement is submitted by the author.

Author's warranty

The Author(s) hereby warrants that the manuscript named above that has been submitted to APIAR Australia for publication in the named book or any other APIAR Australia publication, is ORIGINAL AND HAS NOT BEEN PUBLISHED OR SUBMITTED FOR PUBLICATION ELSEWHERE, and that all trademark use within the manuscript has been credited to its owner or written permission to use the name has been granted. In addition, the Author(s) acknowledges that all images such as tables, screenshots, graphics etc., do not have a copyright that is held by a third party. APIAR Australia will not accept a manuscript for which the copyright is held by a third party. Authors may not use substantial verbatim text from another copyrighted work without the written permission of the copyright holder.

When submitting the final version of their accepted submission, the Author(s) must ensure that:

- the file is submitted in Word format and the article is 7,500–10,000 words long
- the text has been professionally copyedited, proofed and spellchecked by the author, and is considered final and ready for publication without any further changes
- references and in-text citations are included and follow strict Harvard Referencing style

Transfer of copyright

The Author(s), in consideration of the publication of the above named manuscript understands that:

1. The Author(s) agrees to, and does hereby assign all rights, title and interest including copyrights, in and to the manuscript to the Publisher. The author retains the rights to any intellectual property developed by the author and contained in the manuscript including, without limitation, any models, theories or conclusions formulated by the author. While the author may use any and all ideas and research results developed or accumulated while working on a manuscript, and may rewrite, update and re-title them for use in other publications, the author CANNOT use the verbatim text of the manuscript or any part thereof that has been copyrighted by APIAR Australia without first obtaining the written permission of APIAR Australia.

When the manuscript is ready for publication, it will be published at the Publisher's own expense, under the Publisher's imprint or any other imprint the Publisher in its sole discretion elects.

NURTURING KNOWLEDGE WITHOUT BOUNDARIES

2. The Author(s) understands that no royalties or remuneration will be paid by the Publisher to the author for the above named submitted manuscript. Further, the Author(s) acknowledges that the manuscript is being provided for the professional recognition obtained by the publication, and not for any financial remuneration.
3. The Author(s) will indemnify and defend the Publisher against any claim, demand or recovery against the Publisher by reason of any violation of any proprietary right or copyright, or because of any libellous or scandalous matter contained in the manuscript.
4. The Author(s) cannot post the contents of the article on any website or distribute the work to others either in electronic or printed forms without the written permission of APIAR Australia.
5. The Publisher reserves the right to edit the work for the original edition and for any revisions, provided that the meaning of the text is not materially altered. The publisher holds the sole right to make all decisions on page layout and all other aspects of preparing the publication as appropriate for the publisher's system, procedures and business practices.
6. Copies of the print book, for the author's/co-author's use, may be purchased at a discount from the list price.
7. When the Publisher decides that the public demand for this work no longer warrants its continued exposure the Publisher may decide to discontinue and destroy any or all plates, books and sheets without liability to the Author.
8. The Publisher may permit others to publish, broadcast, make recordings or mechanical renditions, publish book club and micro-film editions, make translations and other electronic versions, quote, and otherwise utilize this work and material based on this work, provided the author's name accompanies the work.
9. This Agreement, whenever called upon to be construed, shall be governed by the laws of the Commonwealth of Australia.
10. This Agreement represents the entire understanding between the parties hereto with respect to the subject matter hereof and this Agreement supersedes all previous representations, understandings of agreements, oral or written, between the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof, and cannot be modified except by an additional agreement, signed by the parties hereto.
11. This Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefits of the parties hereto, their heirs, personal representatives, and, as permitted, assigns.
12. If the Author has paid for the publication but failed to submit the copyright document by the due date, no money will be refunded.
