

ABOUT BALI

Bali is both an island and a province of Indonesia. The island is just south of the equator and is home to just over 4 million people. Surrounded by a coral reef, Bali is a lush, green island with some of the most beautiful white and black sand beaches in the world. The island is about 153 km from east to west and 112 km from north to south. The central mountains include an active volcano, Mount Agung. Bali's ample rainfall and fertile soil create highly productive coffee, rice and vegetable crops.

Tourism is very important to Bali. Being so close to the equator, the climate is fairly stable all year. Daytime temperatures range from 20 to 33 degrees Centigrade in the lower altitudes. In the mountains, the temperatures are somewhat cooler. Most tourism is focused in the southern part of the island near beaches and larger towns. World-class hotels maintain a 65% occupancy rating but during the peak season, some hotels are fully booked. In 2012 Bali had over 2.8 million foreign and 5 million domestic tourist visits. The excellent beaches, international and local restaurants, and the friendliness of the people attract tourists to this beautiful island.

RESEARCH COLLABORATION

APIAR is keen to build research collaboration with academics of proven research backgrounds. We welcome academics who have already published in top-ranked journals to submit their research proposal (500 words maximum) for further consideration. Ideally, research problem(s) and methodology as well as theoretical and practical contributions, should all be mentioned in the proposal. We are looking forward to receiving research proposals from top-notch researchers.

APIAR SCHOLARSHIPS:

APIAR is delighted to announce a competition for best papers.

Entries will be judged on the quality of the paper, including the presentation. Only registered participants in the conference are qualified to apply.

The winner(s) will receive the conference registration fee waived for the very next conference organised by APIAR.

The prize is non-negotiable and no monetary alternative will be available.

— WELCOME — TO APCCR - 2018

The 4th Asia Pacific Conference on Contemporary Research (APCCR- 2018) will be held on 11th and 12th of August 2018 in Bali, Indonesia. The main theme of this conference is 'Facing the Future – Together'. Asia Pacific Institute of Advanced Research (APIAR), Australia has organised this conference in collaboration with Universitas Pertamina, Indonesia. The conference will cover every topic from the areas of Business, Education, Social Sciences and ICT.

Internationally-recognized scholars will participate in the event to present their latest research and best practices.

Our conferences are multidisciplinary and focus on different subject areas. Over the past few years an average of forty to fifty participants have participated in each event. Great interaction and professional networking took place on every occasion. You can take advantage of these benefits by participating in a conference that will assist you to enhance your research career.

has already been published...

'Asia Pacific Handbook of Contemporary Research' is a thorough collection of academic research on different areas. Please submit your book chapter to be included in the volume. Details can be found on our website.

We invite you all to participate in our future conferences where you can :

- 1 Strengthen your professional ties: this may lead to publications and job opportunities – an invaluable opportunity for post-PhD professionals.
- 2 Receive feedback and constructive critique on your ideas: benefit from the audience engaging with your content rather than focusing on your punctuation and references.
- 3 Refine your communication skills: move from your "isolating" research experience to a more collaborative and exchange of perspectives.
- 4 Participate in our conference and publish your research directly through the conference proceedings and journals. Don't miss this great opportunity to get your work out there!

All submitted papers will be peer reviewed and published in the conference proceeding to promote the prominent (and emerging) voices within your field of research.

SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS

All of the accepted papers (i.e., high standard) can be published (i.e., conditions apply) without any extra fees in the following online journals:

- Asia Pacific Journal of Advanced Business and Social Studies (APJABSS) (ISSN: 2205-6033)
- Asia Pacific Journal of Contemporary Education and Communication Technology (APJCECT) (ISSN: 2205-6191)
